

Emblem of guarantee of environmental quality for farmhouse accommodations

What does it mean?

It means that the farmhouse accommodation applies a management programme that is respectful of the environment:

- a separate waste collection system is available
- systems for water savings have been introduced
- efficient energy systems have been introduced in their facilities

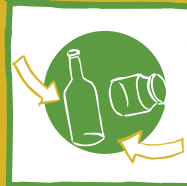

Moreover:

- they are integrated in the landscape without producing any visual or acoustic impact.

For this reason, the Department of the Environment endorses it with the Emblem of guarantee of environmental quality.

Waste

By separating waste, it is possible to reuse a great deal of the rubbish we produce: organic material, glass, paper and cardboard and light packaging in metal or plastic. Then, we avoid the environmental problems that would be generated if the waste were not treated in a suitable way.

All refuse should be deposited in the bin or corresponding containers.

Water savings

Water is a vital resource upon which we depend. In our Country this is a limited resource. Thus, if we only use the water we need, we will help to protect nature and our quality of life.

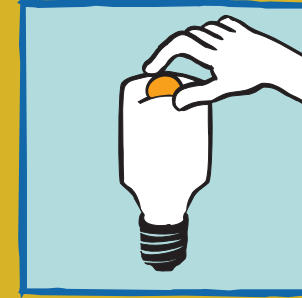

We will help to preserve the natural environment in best conditions if we don't waste water.

We should turn off the taps when we are finished using them.

Energy saving

By using high efficiency energy systems (thermal insulation, low consumption bulbs, high efficiency heating...) there is an important energy savings at the same level of service. So, we can reduce fossil energy consumption which produces pollution and a global impact on our planet.

We should turn off the lights and close the windows when we the heating is on.

Enjoying the silence

This establishment is located in a privileged area without noise from traffic or industrial activities. Thus by avoiding unnecessary noise, we make a contribution to maintaining the welfare of this site . We should also avoid the excessive use of motor vehicles, music equipment and other accessories. Then we will be able to enjoy nature's sounds.

We should keep our radios or tape players at a low volume and avoid unnecessary noise.

What does it mean for the guests?

The fact that the accommodation has the Emblem of guarantee of quality does not require any additional effort from guests, beyond what one might usually do at home.

It is only necessary to follow the instructions conveniently posted at the accommodation: sort waste, close water taps, turn off lights and avoid leaving windows open.

We have chosen this farmhouse accommodation to enjoy a natural and healthy environment: we have to be careful not to damage it during our stay.
